COAL DEARTH, NEW EMBARGO BUFFET STATE

Paralysis Seen; Galion Gets Aid as Hamilton Orders Blackout.

By The Associated Press

...MBUS, O., Dec. 4—Ohio, ... crippled by the coal ... ency, braced today for an- ...naymaker in the form of a ...d freight embargo which ...rialists said would shut ... down.

... Ohio State Guard stood ... to help Hamilton as that ... of more than 53,000 resi- ...ts cut commercial and indus- ... power 70 per cent and ... ed to black out street lights ... ght to save fuel.

Three other cities reported less ... 12 days' coal supplies on ... bringing to 11 the nearly ... less towns in the state. The ... utilities commission listed ... three as Niles, 10 days' sup- ... Shelby 12 days, and Celina ... days.

Aid on Way to Galion

The solid fuels administration ...formed P.U.C.O. that two cars ... coal were enroute to Wauseon, ... such had hit the bottom of its ... n, and one to amherst, similarly afflicted. The SFA said Galion and Delphos also would be aided.

Steelmen at Youngstown said ... industry would be "down ... if the federal freight em- ...argo lasts a week and large fab- ...ating plants there reported ...ings would be "a matter of ..." Already 20,000 are out of ...rk in steel plants now operat- ...g on a 35 per cent basis.

Four large Columbus manufac- ...ers said the embargo would ... them to curtail sharply or ... down within 10 days and ... other major plant said it ... hold out much more than ... weeks. Officials of Jeffrey ...Manufacturing Co., largest of the ... said 2,700 workers faced ...offs.

The Columbus Chamber of Commerce estimated more than ...5 per cent of the citys small ...usiness establishments would ...ose within 30 days if the coal ...ine continues. Other cities were ...elieved to be similarly afflicted.

Adj. Gen. Donald F. Pancoast ...day notified the commanding of- ...er of the Hamilton guard unit ...o place his company at the dis- ...posal of local authorities. He ...id guardsmen used for patrol ...uty must be sworn as special ...licemen to give them the au- ...hority to make arrests.

Pancoasts order followed a re- ...quest for national guard protec- ...tion from Hamilton's mayor Wil- ...iam Beckett to Gov. Lausche.

Declaring that "the drastic ac- ...tion that has been instituted in Hamilton is the forerunner of ...milar action in other Ohio com- ...munities," the governor pledged ...every power in my possession to ...the end that the struggle in which ...the federal government is now ...engaged shall result in a defeat ...of sargent dictatorship and a tri- ...umph of the people."

"I feel impelled to say that ...even in a most liberal democracy, ...the people should not be sub- ...jected to the helplessness of hav- ...ing the imperialistic tyrant para- ...lyze the entire economy of 140 ...million people," the governor said ...in a statement that accompanied a ...directive to Adj. Gen. Donald F. ...Pancoast to make the state guard ...units in Hamilton available "to aid ...local police in the protection of ...lives and properties."

Tyrant Not Named

The governor did not name the ...imperialistic tyrant" in his state- ...ment.

Mayor William Beckett and ... Manager F. R. Buechner re- ...quested state guard help. They ...reported the city's coal supply ...would last only four more days ...and estimated a 70 per cent cut in ...industrial and commercial power, ...effective today, would cost 10,000 ...persons their jobs.

The state public utilities com- ...mission said a report from more ...than half of 400 towns asked to ...list coal stocks showed Delphos' ...light and water plant would be ...without coal in four days; the ...water plant at Jackson and the ...light and power plant at Amherst, ...in seven.

CALLS LEWIS "DOMESTIC HITLER." Harold L. Ickes, former secretary of interior, describes John L. Lewis as "our own domestic Hitler," as he testifies before House Surplus Property committee on use of Big and Little Inch pipelines in Washington. (Associated Press Wirephoto.)

STEELMAN INVITED TO REFUTE CHARGE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 — Reconversion Director John R. Steelman was invited to Capitol Hill today to reply, if he desires, to a blast by Harold L. Ickes who called him a long and "obliging" friend of John L. Lewis.

Chairman Slaughter (D-Mo) of the house committee investigating surplus property telephoned the invitation to Steelman at the White House but got no immediate acceptance.

"I should think he would want to appear, in view of Ickes' testimony," Slaughter commented to reporters.

Ickes, self-styled "Old Curmudgeon," hit Steelman yesterday in the process of assailing miners union chief Lewis as "our own domestic Hitler." He declared the government might have headed off the coal strike by better handling of the big-inch and little-inch war-built pipelines.

The house committee is studying the question of what permanent use should be made of these lines running 1,500 miles from the Texas oil fields to the east coast. The administration announced earlier this week that they will be used as gas conveyors during the coal strike.

G.O.P. Solons Bide Time For Chance To Probe Occupation

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4—Senate Republicans bided their time today for a chance to explore charges that immorality, venereal disease, dishonesty and incompetence in the armed forces jeopardize success of the occupation of Germany.

The Republicans will have control when the new congress is organized Jan. 3 and there seemed no doubt of their determination to investigate the allegations despite:

(1) A Denial by the war department that conditions are as bad as described.

(2) President Truman's statement at a news conference yesterday that he does not think an investigation is necessary.

It was the four Republican members of the senate war investigating committee who made public, over objection of the six-man Democratic majority, a report by committee counsel George Meader detailing the charges.

Recounts Immoral Conduct

The Meader report recounted tales of immoral conduct by some of the American occupation troops, unsatisfactory performances by Negro soldiers, misconduct by officers, and an expensive influx of Jews and other displaced persons into the United States zone.

Senators Brewster (R-Mich), Ball (R-Minn) and Knowland (R-Calif) explained they decided to make it public in order to correct inaccuracies in leaked-out versions which have been dribbling into the press for two weeks.

The war department contended that many of the allegations made by one of Meader's principal witnesses, Col. Francis P. Miller, were unsupported and based upon "gossip" and "hearsay."

Investigation Called Off

A proposed investigation was called off after Meader came back from a four-weeks tour of central Europe and presented his confidential report to the committee. Yielding to the advice of the state and war departments, which contended the inquiry was inadvisable at present, the six Democratic senators voted in a block for cancellation.

The four Republicans voted to proceed, in the first party-line split in the history of the committee, whose original chairman was Harry S. Truman.

Although the President's headshake obviously blocked any immediate revival of the investigation, Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo) told a reporter he thought a full inquiry was in order to clear the controversy aroused by Meader's report.

"Have Right To Know"

"The American people have a right to know just exactly what is going on," the Colorado senator said. "If the report is not correct, an investigation will show it. If it is correct, the people ought to know it."

The Meader report which touched off the inter-party battle made these assertions:

1. "The conduct of the Negro troops, as provable from war department records, is no credit to the Negro race. * * * In 1945 the average Negro strength was 10 per cent of the theater strength. Negroes committed 50 per cent of the major crimes. * * * In the first eight months of 1946, Negroes constituted 12½ per cent of the theater strength and committed 35 per cent of the major crimes among the military."

Since last March the venereal rate among Negroes has ranged

MARION COUNTY AUDITOR NAMED TO STATE OFFICE

Harry V. Mounts New Secretary of Ohio Association.

Harry V. Mounts, Marion county auditor, was reelected secretary of the County Auditors Association of Ohio at its convention last night in Columbus, The Associated Press reported today.

Mr. Mounts is now serving his third term as Marion county auditor and was recently elected to his fourth. He also is president of the Northwestern Ohio association of county auditors.

The state association elected O. C. Johnson of New Philadelphia as president and named A. M. Parker of Warren county vice president.

The convention disclosed a recommendation that the 1947 legislature raise the minimum annual salary for county auditors from $1,080 to $2,400, and that auditors in larger counties receive 25 per cent increases.

Rail Embargo Hits Industry

Limping Plants Given Further Staggering Blow as Shipments Halt.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec 4 — A government order holding railroad freight to the most vital needs struck a staggering new blow today at industries struggling to maintain operations despite the coal strike.

Widespread factory shutdowns, with consequent unemployment for thousands, now working, appeared in prospect.

Officials explained that the order and a companion restriction on parcel post were designed to assure that coal-burning locomotives can be kept running on reduced schedules until mid-February.

The measures, coming in swift succession late yesterday, hit both home and factory. They:

1. Clamped an embargo on all rail freight and express shipments, with the exception of commodities and supplies necessary to the maintenance of public health and safety, effective 12 01 a. m. Friday.

2. Ordered a second 25 per cent cut in rail passenger mileage, effective 11 59 p. m Sunday.

3. Limited the weight of parcel post to five pounds in packages measuring not more than 18 inches in length and 60 inches in length and girth combined, effective 12:01 a. m. Friday.

4. Subjected all export shipments except bulk grain, livestock and exports for the armed services to shipment under special permit, effective last midnight.

CITY'S PLANTS PREPARING FOR FREIGHT CUT

Federal Order Expected To Slash Deep Into Marion's Railway Traffic.

A government order holding freight to the most vital needs, to become effective Friday at 12 01 a. m promised to strike staggering blows at rail traffic through Marion and to effect every major industry in the city.

Industrial leaders in most Marion plants were studying the provisions of the embargo today to determine what measures might be taken.

The embargo, and a companion restriction on parcel post, were designed to assure coal-burning locomotives of operating on reduced schedules until mid-February.

Harold H. Clark, superintendent of the Erie railroad's Marion division, predicted today the embargo would cut rail traffic through Marion by half, with a corresponding cut in crews. By next week the situation may be even tighter, he said. He estimated the effects of the embargo would begin to be felt next week.

The embargo applies to all freight and express shipments with the exception of commodities and supplies necessary to maintain public health and safety, which means that local industries will suffer from inability to ship manufactured goods and the inability to receive additional material.

Overtime Work Halted

The Marion Power Shovel Co today stopped all overtime work at its plants, M. E. Montrose, president and general manager of the company, said at the moment the company was not too hard hit. "We will string along the best we can subject to any change in the coal strike," he said.

Other Marion industries were reported to be considering measures with which to cope with the embargo.

While the two-week-old soft coal strike was taking its toll in idle men throughout the nation, reports from the Marion area indicated there would be no immediate mass unemployment here unless the strike continues.

The Marion office of the United States employment service reported today a negligible number of additional claims have been received here in the bureau of unemployment compensation as a result of the coal shortage.

The USES office reported, however, that a considerable number of calls have been received from workers inquiring as to the provisions of the bureau of unemployment compensation law, anticipating their layoff if the coal strike continues.

No Immediate Problem

"It seems to be the concensus after contacting several large firms within the area," a USES official said, "that few layoffs will take place at present and that most industries have sufficient coal to operate approximately 10 days without layoffs, due to the fact that coal is used only for heating purposes. After that, if the coal situation is not settled, layoffs may occur. If the coal shortage continues the freight embargo will have some affect on local employment because of the inability to ship manufactured products and the inability to receive additional material."

Hardest hit so far in the Marion area were the railroads. Mr.

AS STRIKE TIED UP OAKLAND. In the grip of a general strike by 200 AFL unions, Oakland, Calif., was paralyzed and partly isolated yesterday while thousands of strikers and sympathizers staged mass demonstrations such as shown above. Some violence was reported, such as this incident where a crowd took away a typewriter from one man. The crowd thought he had purchased it in a department store where Oakland police escorted truckloads of merchandise and non-strikers through a picket line several days ago. DR. M. F. AXTHELM HEADS PHYSICIANS

County Academy of Medicine Elects New Officers.

Dr. Milton F. Axthelm of Caledonia was elected president of the Marion County Academy of Medicine when the members met last night at the City hospital. Election of officers and appointment of committees to investigate the proposed combination of the city and county health departments, and a change in the place of holding the academy's monthly meetings, made up the business session. Following the election the newly-elected officers assumed their offices.

Elected with Dr. Axthelm to serve for the coming year were Dr. J. W. Bull, vice president, and Dr. A. E. Morrison who was reelected secretary-treasurer. Dr. Axthelm succeeds Dr. Richard L. Morgan as head of the organization.

Dr. Bull reported on plans for the proposed combining of the health departments after which Dr. R. T. Gray, Dr. F. G. Smith and Dr. F. L. Yeager were named a committee to go into the plan further and report at a future meeting of the academy. Tentative plans are to meet at Hotel Harding instead of at the City hospital and Dr. Bull, Dr. Yeager and Dr. Frederick Rea were named a committee to make further investigation regarding the change.

Oakland Mayor Flays Strikers

Asks Emergency Powers To Fight General Walkout Tying Up City.

By The Associated Press

OAKLAND, Calif., Dec 4—An aroused mayor, declaring "the city of Oakland is not going back to the jungle," demanded drastic emergency powers today to cope with an expanding mass "protest" walkout of organized labor which has kept a metropolitan area of 1,000,000 people tied up since 5 a. m. yesterday.

Even as Mayor Herbert L. Beach summoned the city council to act because "no community can exist in anarchy," the word was passed among AFL unions for an even greater show of strength.

The huge walkout, protesting a police-protected delivery of merchandise through picket lines to two struck department stores, has:

Stopped all public transportation.

Halted commuter service across the eight-mile-long San Francisco-Oakland Bay bridge and thus jam-packed it with privately owned automobiles carrying more than 70,000 persons.

Closed up a huge segment of East Bay industries.

Pulled AFL sailors off merchant ships.

Forced suspension of newspapers, including one which hadn't missed an edition since 1874.

Filled the streets with parading demonstrators, at times resulting in fisticuffs and manhandlings in which at least nine persons, including three newspaper representatives, were slightly injured.

Spokesmen of the AFL and the city appealed by radio and press statement for public support.

Earlier, in a radio appeal for public support, James F. Galliano, attorney for the AFL Alameda county labor council, declared the AFL Clerks Union had clear majorities at both stores, Kahn's and Hastings', but that the management refused to negotiate. He also charged that the truck drivers escorted by police through the picket lines were "strike-breakers from Los Angeles."

Mayor Beach called the walkout "an attempt to substitute the physical force of mobs for government."

Ohio Court Rules Landlords May Bar Children from Homes

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 4—Ohio landlords may legally restrict use of their property to adult persons only, the Ohio supreme court ruled today. The decision came in a divided opinion reversing the Cuyahoga county appellate court and authorizing the eviction of a World War II veteran and his family.

The decision upheld the right of the Lamont Building Co. of Cleveland to evict Marion Court, his wife and baby from one of its apartments. The baby was born after Court and his wife moved into the apartment.

Four of the seven jurists held in the majority opinion that:

"A landlord may validly stipulate in a rental agreement that the occupancy shall be confined to adult persons, and where a tenant brings a young child to live in an apartment in violation of such agreement he may be evicted."

Judges supporting the landlords were Charles B. Zimmerman, Roy S. Williams, William H. Hart and E. S. Matthias. Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt, and Judges Charles Bell and Edward C. Turner dissented.

The company contended it rented an apartment to Court and his wife Feb. 19, 1945 on a month-to-month basis with occupancy confined exclusively to adults.

A child was born to the Courts six months later and the company asked Court to move on grounds that to keep the infant in the apartment would violate terms of the lease.

Court refused to move and eviction proceedings were commenced in the Cleveland municipal court, which held that Court could not be evicted because the child had been born after he occupied the apartment. The appellate court affirmed the lower court's order.

ACTION DELAYED AS STRIKE SETTLEMENT RUMORS SPRING UP

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4—John L. Lewis' sentence for contempt of court was delayed five hours—until at least 3 p. m.—today amid unofficial talk that some formula for ending the paralyzing soft coal strike was being sought.

Official confirmation that such an understanding might be reached was lacking from any of the top figures in the historic trial. They included President Lewis of the United Mine Workers, assistant Attorney General John F. Sonnett, and Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough who yesterday found Lewis guilty of contempt of his court.

The sentencing was scheduled originally for 10 a. m. but for two hours these or their legal aides conferred behind closed doors, sometimes together and sometimes separately. Then Goldsborough convened his court at noon only to have the bailiff announce a three-hour recess.

Spectators Surprised

There was a gasp of surprise from the tense spectators at this word. Goldsborough smiled broadly as he left the courtroom.

One Justice department official told newsmen the delay was asked by Joseph A. Padway, AFL general counsel and chief Lewis attorney.

A Justice department attorney who sat on the government bench in the court room, but did not participate in the talks in chambers, suggested to reporters that an 11th hour effort to end the walkout might be in progress. He added, however, that he had no specific knowledge this was the case.

Speculation over cause of the delay embraced possible penalties, since the court had asked both government and UMW attorneys to make recommendations. One government source intimated that the government might seek to have a $200,000 a day fine imposed on Lewis and his union for as long as the work stoppage continued.

Attorneys Talk with Lewis

As the morning waned, UMW attorneys left the judge's chambers to talk with Lewis in an anteroom, where the big union leader had been pacing the floor. Then they returned to the judge's chambers and at one minute to noon Judge Goldsborough appeared on the bench to convene court for the purpose of declaring a recess until 3 p. m.

In some unofficial quarters it was suggested that the court might conceivably pass sentence, and then suspend its execution pending an appeal of the contempt conviction to the supreme court—on the proviso that the UMW return to work and restored the situation of two weeks ago.

Reporters asked Joseph A. Padway, AFL general counsel, if he could explain the postponement.

"No Comment," Says Padway

"I can not tell you anything," he said. "No comment."

Lewis likewise said "No comment," as he left the courtroom and entered an elevator.

The recess announcement came immediately after Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough who yesterday held Lewis and the United Mine Workers in contempt, had entered the court after the two hour delay.

Goldsborough mounted the bench and the bailiff announced that the court would stand adjourned until 3 p. m.

Assistant Attorney General John F. Sonnett, in charge of the government's legal team, strode rapidly from the court room and left the building.

He was escorted fore and aft by deputy marshals calling, "One side, please."

Answers No Questions

Sonnett answered none of the questions shouted at him.

"No comment," he said grimly.

Lewis had alternately paced the floor of an ante-room and conferred with his lawyers during the behind-the-scene maneuvering.

Tight lipped, the mine union boss arrived at 9:52 a. m. for sentencing on his refusal to obey a federal district court order designed to avert the soft coal strike.

Curious spectators crowded against the closed doors of the packed courtroom as Lewis entered with his team of lawyers.

The United Mine Workers president told Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough yesterday he would "firmly stand" on his "constitutional rights," and those of his 400,000 idle followers.

On entering the courtroom Lewis immediately took the same chair he has occupied throughout the trial, which began a week ago today.

Sits in Silence

He sat in silence for a moment, staring out into the jammed courtroom.

Then he arose and went to an ante room to confer with AFL General Counsel Joseph A. Padway.

The two returned after a brief consultation.

The sentencing was delayed temporarily while Judge Goldsborough conferred with the trial attorneys in his chambers.

The judge was believed to be hearing the recommendations of both sides — government and AFL United Mine Workers—as to what penalties, if any, should be imposed on Lewis and his union.

Lewis himself sat silent and grim in the courtroom as the minutes ticked away.

Apparently growing impatient at the length of the conference, Lewis left the court room and paced the floor in an ante room formerly occupied by the prospective jurors who were never called to try his case.

He appeared tense.

The conference in Judge Golds-

Magazine Sees Coal Agreement Nearing

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 4—Iron Age, national metalworking paper, discussed the "possibility" that John L. Lewis and the coal operators "are closer to an agreement than appears on the surface."

Emphasizing that it was merely taking notice of talk in steel circles, the publication said:

"It is reported that only the running time of a new contract between the operators and the union is still under discussion. Lewis, it is said, wants it to run until April, 1948; the operators would settle for 48 hours pay for a 40-hour week, but the contract would expire at the end of 1947."

Prompt Action On Coal Certificates Urged by Dealers

Marion residents, many of them out of coal today, were wondering when their next ton of coal would come in. Charles Buente, chairman of the Marion Coal Dealers' association, said dealers were not getting good response today from the certificates printed in last night's edition of The Star. "Many persons still do not realize they must submit written applications to their coal dealers, stating they have less than a 10-day supply on hand, before any coal may be ordered for them," Mr. Buente said.

The certificates need not be those printed in The Star, but any form of written certification showing the consumer has less than a 10-days supply of coal. No coal can be ordered without the certificates.

Mr. Buente said he has asked all coal dealers to notify him tonight on the number of certificates received and he will wire the solid fuels administration in Cleveland with the report. He said he was uncertain how long it would take residents to get coal through such applications. He predicted it would be at least two days after emergency coal was released before it would find its way into local yards. When the coal would be released was anybody's guess, Mr. Buente said.

BROWNLEE TO AID POLIO DRIVE HERE

Named To Assist in March of Dimes Campaign.

Theodore E. Brownlee of 410 Durfee drive has been appointed by Odell Thompson, Marion county director of the March of Dimes infantile paralysis campaign, as Marion city director of the drive, Mr. Thompson announced today.

Mr. Brownlee is a city fireman. This year will be Mr. Thompson's third as county campaign director.

Mr. Thompson said he has received information from Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, that the campaign throughout the country this year is more essential than ever before, due to the recent outbreak of polio.

More than 20,000 cases, greater than any year since 1916, have been recorded so far this year. The outbreak may wipe out a $4,000,000 emergency fund for epidemic aid set up by the foundation O'Connor said. The fund was reduced to $1,750,000 by Oct. 1 and he predicted it would be wiped out entirely by the year-end.

Reminds Veterans Of Insurance Date

Samuel Manning, contact representative of the veterans administration office in Marion, stated today that World War II veterans who have allowed their national service life insurance to lapse have a date to remember, Feb. 1, 1947. This is the deadline for reinstating of national service life insurance by the veteran who, upon declaration that his health is as good as when the insurance lapsed, has only to pay two monthly premiums on his term insurance policy no matter how long the insurance has lapsed.

Mr. Manning pointed out that the two premiums to be paid do not represent a penalty but simply cover the month "grace period" for which the veteran was protected although no premiums had been paid and the month in advance of all insurance payments. Veterans who have continued to send in their premium payments, although they have not received a receipt, are assured of active policies, he said.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Chorea

Fever is one of the body's natural defensive mechanisms against germs. Though a high fever does not actually kill germ invaders, it does, in some way not yet well understood, seem to prepare them for slaughter by other forces of the body.

This is the idea behind modern medicine's use of artificial fever in combating disease which ordinarily do not stimulate the body to produce its own.

In chorea or St. Vitus' dance, for instance, the patient's temperature is usually elevated only by one or two degrees. However, according to Dr. Edward L. Bauer of Pennsylvania, if the temperature can be induced to rise to 104 degrees every day for eight days and kept there for two hours, a disease which lasts anywhere from six weeks to six months or longer can be cured within four days to three weeks. Since chorea is an ailment which affects children and often causes damage to the heart as it goes on, this is a great gain.

St. Vitus' dance is not difficult to diagnose. Facial grimaces or contortions, including squinting of the eyes are commonly present. There are jerky, uncoordinated movements of the arms and legs, there is some twitching of the tongue and frequently the child has trouble in talking. The heart rate is speeded up and there may be a heart murmur present. Usually there are some evidences of rheumatic fever, such as nose bleed, pain in the abdomen and pain in the joints.

In producing the curative fever Dr. Baue ruses injections of typhoid vaccine into a vein. In carrying out the treatment, two hours after a light breakfast, the patient is given an injection of morphine under the skin, the dose depending on the age and weight of the patient. One-half hour later an injection of the vaccine is given into a vein. The patient is then snugly wrapped in blankets; a specially trained nurse takes care of the patient and she takes the patient's temperature at 10-minute intervals.

In order to get the best results, the temperature must be raised to 104° F. and kept there for two hours. If the temperature tends to rise above 105° F. the blankets are removed and the temperature allowed to come down. If it does not rise to 104° F., a second injection of the vaccine is employed. Daily treatments for eight days are the usual course. Dr. Bauer has treated 200 patients by this method and has found that improvemet occurs after the third or fourth day and rapid relief of all the symptoms continues.

It would appear that since this treatment may be carried out with little inconvenience or risk, there is nothing to lose and everything to gain in using it for the little victims of St. Vitus' dance.

RURAL LEADERS WIN AT CAUCUS

Ohio Legislators Ignore Urban Centers in Organizing House.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec 4—Republican members-elect have chosen rural county leaders for the GOP's 123 legislators in the 135-seat Ohio house of representatives which convenes Jan 6

In caucus yesterday, the Republican assemblymen ignored urban legislators and selected C William O'Neil, 30-year-old Mercetta lawyer, as speaker, Paul L McCormick, Hartsville (Logan county) real estate dealer speaker pro tem, and Leslie M Burge, Lorain roofing contractor, party whip.

Clerk Carl Guess of Carrollton was reelected by acclamation

Election to the offices at the Jan 6 house organization will be a formality, the caucus having pledged to support its choices.

Youngest Speaker

O'Neill, perhaps the youngest legislator ever selected speaker, defeated Clifton L Carrl of Union county 91 to 25 O'Neill came to the legislature when he was 22 years old and still an Ohio State university student. He was discharged from the army last February as staff sergeant with overseas service in the engineers

Four ballots were required to decide the speaker pro tem

McCormick, who at 47 will be starting his fifth consecutive term, won over Rep. William M. Deagens of Cincinnati, a former speaker pro tem. John L Catlett Mansfield navy veteran, was eliminated on the third ballot and Robert R Shaw of Columbus present speaker pro tem, was dropped after the second ballot

Burge was elected caucus secretary and party whip on the second ballot, polling the required 63 votes against Robert W Dunkle of Chillicothe and Fred A. Hunt of Toledo Burge had served one term when he entered the navy He served in the Pacific

To Appoint Committee

Speaker-Designate O'Neill, who will appoint a patronage committee of five members and make assignments to all standing committees of the house, told the caucus he regarded his election 'as an opportunity to work out a program to meet Ohio's problems' and added

'What we accomplish here together will be the record of our party in Ohio two years hence

John Hayden of Clermont county presided at the caucus and claimed his seniority would entitle him to preside at the formal organization meeting although his six consecutive terms were matched by Paul H Ballard of Jackson county, who was designated by the caucus to preside at the Jan 6 organization meeting

'46 Automobile Output To Hit 2,000,000, Thanks To Spurt

By DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Automotive Editor

DETROIT, Dec 4 —Thanks to the recent spurt by General Motors divisions the nation's automobile industry probably will wind up 1946 with a total output of 2,000,000 passenger cars.

That is less than half the volume the motorcar makers hoped to produce this year

And the outlook for many months ahead does not offer much encouragement for the average person seeking delivery of a new car One automobile maker summed up the viewpoint of most of his fellow manufacturers a few days ago when he said

The first six months of 1947 are going to be tough."

No Radical Spurt Seen

Because of a continuing shortage of hot and cold rolled sheet steel that plagued the car industry throughout this year, this car builder asserted there would be no radical upturn in automobile production during the first half of 1947

The shortage of sheet steel has been explained in automobile industry circles as due to strikes inadequate machinery in the rolling mills and the fact that "everybody wants more steel."

Some of the car manufacturers are reported to have sufficient material on hand to carry out their oft-revised 1946 production schedules This is not true, however, of all the passenger vehicle builders If additional shipments of steel are not received some will have to sharply curtail assemblies this month

There is also a probability that some new models scheduled for introduction early in January may not get on the assembly lines before February.

Continue To Book Orders

The industry's general sales managers are urging their dealers to continue to book orders but at the same time they are warning the retailers not to make specific promises as to delivery dates The advice was given following more or less widespread reports that many dealers were refusing to take more orders

Surveys by the sales executives following the recent price increases disclosed some cancellations Nevertheless the bank of unfilled orders amounts to considerably more cars than the industry will assemble through all of 1947.

The car builders are not inclined to over-estimate the volume or strength of the new automobile market They know that anything that affects the nation's buying power also affects the demand for new vehicles

However, they know also that something like 10,000,000 cars now in use are upward of 10 years old that from Feb 10, 1942, to date they made only about 2,000,000 passenger vehicles and that the winter months will send another 5,000,000 cars to the scrap heap

So, although the prospects for the first half of 1947 are as uncertain as they have been at any time so far in the postwar era, the long range outlook promises a lot of demand and a lot of employment in the nation's car industry

Everybody says:

"It Pays To Trade at Lennon's"

That slogan has met the eyes of the good folks of Central Ohio these past 25 years. It is more than a slogan—it is our profession of business ethics.

Trying our level best to live up to this ambitious creed means more than just aiming to give our patrons the best at the lowest prices. It means special service far beyond what you look for in a furniture store—friendly service with a cheery smile.

That slogan is the inspiration that urges us to ever greater efforts for creating Happier Homes

Living up to that slogan permits us to boast that our employees are the happiest family in Marion—the highest paid men in their line of work.

When our truck driver enters your home, he's welcome because he's happy and proud of his work. He knows that he is the highest paid driver in the city. He is cheerful because he knows that he, as well as every member of his family is protected under our Hospital Insurance service that costs him not one penny.

He knows too, that Lennon's pays the full premium on a $1,000 00 Life Insurance policy that is payable to his wife in the event of his death

This man and every Lennon employee knows that he will get a generous share in the profits of the store. He is working for himself.

That is why, even during the war years, you never received a curt reply at Lennon's If we did not have the things you wanted, we tried to help you locate them. When you called at Lennon's we tried to make you our friend. If we sell you anything we know you will be our friend.

Mammy Singer

THE 1946 election took some of the pepper out of Senator Claude Pepper, but he's still vocal. He made some noisy observations recently on the relationship between the North and South, which is always good for one more argument.

Accusing the Republican party of reaction, whatever that means in his vocabulary, he said it would be a disservice for southern Democrats to continue their alliance with northern Republicans. The North, he charged, insists on keeping the South "a colony."

There's some truth in this, though Senator Pepper could have used a better word. The North thinks of the South not so much as a colony as it thinks of it as a vast region which is not wholly within the United States. The United States has a two- party system; the solid part of the South uses a one-party system. The United States is committed to a Constitution that permits no abridgement of citizenship rights because of race, color, or religion; the South still has not accepted that guarantee. The United States does not understand how a Bilbo gets elected by southerners; but many southerners do not understand why the United States should wonder about a Bilbo. And the United States has a little trouble digesting a Pepper who thumps the tub for the Political Action Committee before an election and behaves like a mammy singer when the Democratic party stages another of its forced retreats into the South.

Freeze and Learn

A SUDDEN drop in temperature will make it easier to learn what may never penetrate the skulls of the omnipotent executives of the union labor movement.

But it is beginning to be clear to everybody else that these men cannot be trusted with the power to make or break the nation's welfare. It is getting clearer with each hour added to the stoppage of work in coal mines under the dictatorship of John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers. It is easier to understand with each factory that shuts down, each school that must be closed, each inconvenience added to the country's mounting toll of grievances against the tiny minority of citizens who are making it rotten for the whole country.

Predictions are that the Mine Workers' strike will run on indefinitely, no matter what is done, because in the game of freeze-out which John Lewis is playing he can outlast the public. Miners are well-supplied with money and, presumably, with coal. They can afford to wait, they say, until hell freezes over, if necessary, and it may take that long to make it perfectly clear to everybody in the United States that strikes must be absolutely forbidden in industries whose continued operation is essential to safety, health and national security. Labor disputes arising in these industries must be settled by compulsory arbitration, with refusal to accept arbitration constituting grounds for loss of property and employment in the industry.

If this is not evident yet, be patient. It will become evident as the coal strike continues and a nation shivers to a stop because one arbitrary union boss and one strong union decided the time had come to carry on some more collective bargaining at the point of a gun.

The Final Emergency

IT IS BEING pointed out by Democrats with lip-licking relish that another thing Republicans are going to learn more about in the very near future is the war emergency.

GOP naggers who have been pestering the Truman administration for hanging on to its war powers will discover, say the Democrats, that there's more involved than the desire to hang on.

The truth is, there would be too many complications in letting loose of them. A lot of things would happen automatically if President Truman declared the war was ended. Laws would expire. Loans would be called. Military commitments would be invalidated. That's why it is easier, all things considered, to pretend the war is still in progress.

This was certain to happen—this state of mind which has been induced by so many emergencies, one after another, that the only thing to be afraid of is the awful confusion of no emergency at all. Since early in 1933, the United States has existed in a continuous state of emergency. After 1939, when war broke out in Europe, emergencies were piled on emergencies, until one more emergency seemed of no consequence. The only thing too awful to think of now is the possibility of declaring all emergencies at an end and going back to the nerve-wracking conditions of intolerable normalcy.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

Unsettling Events Seen Ahead for America.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4—The trend of affairs is worrying men who think about the course of government. They talk it among themselves, not always discreetly, but sounding out each other as to what can be expected. There is not to say any agreement exists on what will happen. Nor would it imply the administration has any plan of action. Many authorities here merely see unsettling events ahead and at hand domestically and internationally and are not sure how these will all come out.

The most common expectation appears to be that the Republicans will assume domestic leadership next month when they take hold of congress. Some legislation like the Case bill, to put the unions in line, is anticipated for passage over any veto (there may not be a veto this time.) The legislation will take the line certainly of making the unions responsible for contracts and finances. Almost surely it will open up the exclusive trust-like combines of the unions and seek to restore to men their right to work. One union, for instance, charges $1,000 initiation fee and otherwise excludes anyone from joining or working without joining. A great many union people want this reformed as was advocated by those union workers whose homes were bombed in Hollywood because they wished to work during a jurisdictional dispute.

Might Include More

The legislation might go further and try to protect the public against strikes in public utilities—strikes which shut off light, heat, or public necessities like food-distribution and transportation.

Whatever reforms are to be enacted may be pushed through swiftly in the new congress—or Republican leaders will try to push them swiftly. The truth is congress is not a good place to entrust leadership. By its very nature it must give full protection to minority rights and thus open the way for filibusters, delays, stalls. Essentially congress is more of a balance wheel than an affirmative action body. Consequently a shrewd insight is in prospect.

The union leaders are not only rushing headlong to meet these prospects, but are actually provoking an economic struggle. The CIO wage policy committee is expected to work out a demand for another wage increase of about 15 per cent. The figure is being based on present prices, which government economists say will not last in food 30 to 60 days more and certainly are tending downward for next year—and also simultaneously based on what CIO expects the companies to make next year in great profits, regardless of the fact that many leading companies like Western Union, Ford, G M and others are operating at a loss owing to the last wage increases. The claims do not make much economic sense.

To meet this CIO campaign for which Lewis has been fronting in his coal strike, Mr. Truman has fairly good economic advisers (despite reports to the contrary.) If there is one thing Economic Stabilizer Steelman knows, it is labor relations and unions. Furthermore, the right hand adviser is supposed to be a seldom mentioned Missouri lawyer.

Old Ones Shelved

The old advisers, Treasury Secretary Snyder and RFC Administrator George Allen, are said to be resting obscurely in a house of canines as far as Mr. Truman is concerned. National Chairman Hannegan, whose health is not good, can be led to suffer a relapse, it is said, at any time the names of Allen and Snyder are currently mentioned.

No affirmative leadership is available however to take hold of the ravaging economic elements and whittle them down into a stable economy—toward prices and wages which will last more than a few months, although this is what labor needs more urgently than another wage increase. The nation needs it also because strikes are proving to be costly weapons to many strikers who lose more in them than is gained, and of course the nation must have production to get back on its feet. We are not "talking ourselves into a depression," as they try to say here now, but we are drifting into one, impelled by lack of constructive leadership.

A week ago Saturday, the largest hotel here had 120 rooms empty for the first time since the war. A certain airline is not carrying enough passengers to make any profit. The strikers on TWA cannot all get their jobs back. In many key spots the signs of drifting letdown are noticeable.

Internationally the breaks of socialism toward the communists in Britain, France and Italy particularly are weakening the cooperation among politicians who oppose communism, a matter which has been touched in this column earlier. In both lines the future will be determined by the outcome of critical events now in the making.

A Faculty Composed Of Back Seat Drivers?

A New York educator proposes that the nation's high schools inaugurate courses in automobile driving.

Shortly now, Junior will be coming home with a report card giving him "D" in such subjects as arithmetic and English . . . but an "A-plus" in shifting gears.

Who'd have thought they'd ever change the 3-Rs to reading, riting and riding?

The curriculums of schools who adopt the idea, in addition to classroom lectures, will undoubtedly include laboratory sessions at S-curves and grade crossings.

Why not carry the idea even further, setting up graduate colleges and offering PhD's in chauffering to those who have taken advanced courses in mental telepathy and foreign languages and thus not only know what the lady up ahead is going to do but also are able to express themselves adequately on the subject?

I can hardly wait for the day when the driver of a 10-ton truck, having become involved in an accident, climbs down from his cab and demands "All right, freshman, where's your diploma?"

Courage in the Air

By ROBERT E. GEIGER

WASHINGTON—Medical officers who measured human courage on "The Hump" route to China have decided this quality is composed of more ingredients than an Irish stew. Likewise the factors that cause it to crack are complex.

Flying "The Hump" was a good measure of an airman's "tolerance for stress" because 910 crewmen, 130 passengers and 594 planes were lost on this India-China route in three years.

Air force officials said the flying conditions were so formidable it was surprising the losses weren't greater.

Maj. William M. Jeffries of Little Rock, Ark., was division medical inspector officer, headquarters of the India-China division of the air transport command. He says an assignment to the hump "resulted in a strain on nervous and emotional stability probably unsurpassed in any other air forces operation."

Hazards Were Great.

The pilots had to fly over the Himalayas at altitudes up to 35,000 feet. Planes frequently were in poor condition. Many safety devices were removed. Takeoffs were made with loads far in excess of the maximum safe limit.

"And on a large percentage of flights the cargo consisted of 55-gallon drums of gasoline some of which leaked, producing a serious fire hazard," Major Jeffries said in an article in the Bulletin of the U. S. Army Medical department.

The flights were over a series of high, jagged mountain ranges divided by rivers flowing through precipitous gorges.

There Was No Safety.

The Japanese frequently attacked the undefended transports. Safe emergency landings were impossible, and the route at one time was marked by a trail of crashed planes. Flights were over Japanese-held territory, and a pilot knew that if he cracked up and survived he still had to fight the jungle and elude the enemy.

Because of the necessity of getting goods to China in a hurry, crews frequently made one trip, rested eight hours and made another. For months flights were made regardless of weather and frequently through fog that shrouded mountain ranges.

The food usually was monotonous and unappetizing. There was extreme heat and humidity. There were no electric fans or refrigeration facilities at ATC bases. Outdoor sports were impossible because of mud and monsoon rains.

There were few night picture shows because of the danger of malaria, dengue and other diseases and ant, rats and deadly snakes.

Strained the Strongest

"A combination of these factors was sufficient to strain the stability of the soundest individuals," Major Jeffries said.

He classified psychological disorders that developed as:

1. Simple flying fatigue, an acute condition resulting from excessive hazardous flying and inadequate rest. It usually could be eliminated by a few days of rest.

2. A more serious type of "anxiety reaction."

The latter ranged from a "simple fear reaction," caused by too much flying, to mental crackups brought on by a combination of troubles such as fear, plus physical illness, plus disturbing news from home.

From a study of many of these cases Major Jeffries concluded that a man's mental crackup was "the sum total of all of the stresses encountered."

"The tolerance of stress of any individual depends to a great extent on his ability to adjust to unusual and adverse situations, and is probably a result of a number of factors including heredity, home environment, training and experience," he said.

"Stable adjustment with regard to domestic situation, religion, philosophy of life and place in society appears especially important."

A Move To Stop Elliott

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4—The former close associates of President Roosevelt are now angrily determined that Elliott Roosevelt must stop peddling fragments of his father's memory as Communist propaganda souvenirs. Few could admire Elliott Roosevelt's behavior while his father lived. But this business of turning a dubious penny by putting "Daily Worker" fire-cracker mottoes into the mouth of the great and helpless dead is just too ghoulish to be borne with patience.

Young Roosevelt's latest exploit has been to expound his views on foreign policy—or rather the views that have been carefully implanted in him—at a party given by a member of the Moscow embassy staff. In a mixed gathering of Soviety officials and Americans, he indorsed the Soviet claim to the Dardanelles; declared that American foreign policy was purely imperialistic in motive, and even asserted that American participation in the United Nations was only another aspect of this "imperialism." When the report of what he had done reached this country, his family sent him an anxious cable inquiring whether the story was true.

It was in answer to this cable that he issued his statement at Moscow, not denying what he had said, but complaining because Ambassador W. Bedell Smith dared to report the incredible and damaging episode to the state department.

Under the circumstances, it is time to point out the contrast between Elliott Roosevelt and the other Roosevelts. Mrs. Roosevelt is incomparably better qualified to speak for the late President. Now a greater figure among American progressives than all the Henry Wallaces and other so-called Roosevelt heirs rolled into one, she is as strongly anti-Communist as her second son is the contrary. And so are James Roosevelt and Franklin Roosevelt Jr., both of whom have already embarked on serious political careers.

Different Activities

In the New York campaign, Elliott Roosevelt was content to serve as the empty sounding board for the local party-liners, basking in their easy applause. Franklin Roosevelt Jr., on the other hand, very carefully avoided any such involvement, and is now one of the leaders of the important fight against Communist infiltration of the American Veterans' committee. As for Mrs. Roosevelt, she has powerfully aided the Union for the Democratic Action, chief non-Communist progressive organization, in its plans for a meeting in Washington of American non-Communist progressive leaders. The meeting is to be held on Jan. 4 and will hammer out an American non-Communist Left program with emphasis on the "non-Communist." Along with many other persons of national stature, both Mrs. Roosevelt and Franklin Roosevelt Jr., will participate actively. There is reason to hope that the result will be a turning point in the story of American progressivism.

Even without the testimony of these responsible members of his family, the historical record would be enough to prove that President Roosevelt did not suffer from such woolly-headedness towards the Soviet Union as Elliott Roosevelt attributes to him. His last state paper was a cable to Stalin on the Polish question so sharp and strong in language that Winston Churchill advised him against dispatching "this weighty and massive" protest.

Unanswerable

Why then has Elliott Roosevelt embarked on an attempt to make his father over in the image of William Z. Foster? The question cannot be answered. One can only say that the attempt began with Elliott Roosevelt's book, "As He Saw It," which is perhaps the unkindest cut a member of his own family ever gave to a great political leader.

In itself, the history of the book is interesting. As originally written, it was too incompetently organized for publication. It will of course be denied; yet it is now known that the manuscript was returned for revision, and that Elliott Roosevelt somehow acquired a smart party-liner, reputedly of the Hollywood contingents, as his ghost-writer. It was the ghost who brought every paragraph into exact accord with the Communist party line, and gave to the whole its slick, soap-opera, B-picture style.

The volume resulting from this collaboration was then submitted, for serialization, to a well known national weekly. According to a well authenticated report, this first editor to whom the book was offered requested Elliott Roosevelt to substantiate his facts by producing the diary he claims to have kept. Young Roosevelt replied, according to the same report, that this valuable document was now unfortunately missing. Thus the serial rights were in the end sold to "Look," the picture paper, for $25,000. Since this sum was additional to the advance and royalties from the publishers, Duell, Sloane & Pearce, it can at least be said that Elliott Roosevelt is mining a profitable vein.

More To Come

Nor is the vein exhausted. On their present trip to Moscow, Mr. Roosevelt and his wife are the guests of the Soviet State, but on his return he will write five articles on Russia for "Look" for a reported price of $25,000. Furthermore, he is seriously considering an offer to supplement this second $25,000 by exploiting his new reputation as a political thinker on the more remunerative lecture platforms of Europe and America.

The question remains, is it worth it? Even on the present trip, there have been other displeasing episodes, as when Lieutenant General Lucius D. Clay, Deputy Military Governor of Germany, first learned that the Elliott Roosevelts were in Berlin by happening on the son of the man whom he had admired and

"The World Kierance"

(Book Review)

("Information Please" has published an almanac, with John Kieran as editor—ed. item.)

Here, at last, is a book that while it may not win the award of the books of the month club because of the intensive study required for complete comprehension, will be fairly certain to find itself among the best sellers.

* * *

It is not a tome of action and indeed lacks dramatic sweep, but has substance and lasting appeal. Open it anywhere, here is a book in which every family can find at least one page and exclaim "Here is what I have been looking for," and perhaps—"If this doesn't settle the bet, I'll—'Information Please.' It lacks profound philosophy and short analysis of human passions but substitutes clarity, factual observation and humour of high side on any day you can name.

* * *

The story is baffling and suffers from too much detail but the reader will be stirred as the writer carries him with compelling power through the opening chapter, in which he meets the heroine Wanna Fact in a breathless interview with the colorful J. Fuller Data, to the dramatic struggle in which he encounters to aid the characters "Lookitt" Upp, "Settler" Bett, "Query" Rice, Harold Stassen, the popular Mr. Ansonia, Connecticut, the highest peak in Colorado and the assembled presidents of the United States.

How this book came to be written constitutes a dramatic tale. There already is a World Almanac, known to every nome from one another," asks Daniel Golenpaul, the man who ran a correct answer to "What time is it?" into a million dollars. "But how?" came the reply, which while it did not win a war, still seemed a pretty good comeback. "It is simple," said a still small voice." Stand John Kieran on his head, lift him off the floor, shake him fiercely and—presto!—out will come data beyond the dream of man." And so it came to pass, involving an experience so severe on Mr. Kieran's part that it will be months before he will feel at home right side up.

* * *

The choice of Mr. Kieran was wise. In other almanacs is it possible to pick up the book desiring merely the population of Cedar Rapids and emerge with not only that figure but a full description of the puzzle-tailed bluefinch, a curiosity of the oldest swan east of the Alleghenies and the name of the pitchers in the second game of the 1912 World Series. It is our rich experience to enter the book desiring nothing more than the name of the 14th President of the United States. We found a record of quintuplet birth, the 1942 election returns of each state, the height of Mt. McKinley and the name of Whirlaway.

* * *

Balzac was more imaginative, Dostoevsky more profound and Proust a subtler analyst of emotions; Dickens and Cooper were better story tellers. But they were not hot on facts. Ernest Hemingway could probably have carried out the idea with more gusto, but we feel he would not have done as well by the unforgettable interlude where the man who has lost his spectacles, fumbles though the house when the fuse has blown out and searches through the pages for the winner of the second Kentucky Derby, the first name of President Garfield and the time of the October full moon.

LEO DUROCHER has signed as manager of "Dem Bums" for $70,000 a year. In the words of the old adage, there is never a twixt the dough and the Lip.

* * *

Ye Ed realized an ancient ambition the other day. It has been his long and slow-burning desire to sit in one of those two wheel sulkies and drive a trotter. Well, the Moriarty brothers made it possible. They invited him to their 67 acre farm in Tyler City, turned over a trotter and sulky to him and let him have the thrill that comes once in a lifetime. You don't have your jet planes; this is our idea of supreme speed sensation. And the Moriarty boys are our pet envy. A couple of city fellows and, of all things, in the automotive business, they love the spirit of the farm and have a barnfull of trotters, saddle horses, sleighs, buggies and what not. Giddap Napoleon, let the auto strikes fall where they may.

December

By TRUMAN TWILL

Nothing happens in December, except for Christmas, New Year's eve, ice on the front steps, frozen automobile radiators, remembering to turn off the water in the outside faucets, putting down batteries on frosty mornings and mice rounding up winter clothing;

Cautioning the family not to run hog-wild on Christmas shopping, sending out Christmas cards to you, getting the family budget safely under the wire for another year, deciding what to do on New Year's eve;

Teetering on stepladders to decorate Christmas trees, 2,703,568,492 Christmas carols on the radio, household epidemics of sniffles and the first glum intimations of influence, heart-rending tales of little tots who will not believe in Santa Claus unless someone gets busted in the eye;

Desperate last-minute excursions into the marts of trade to make desperate last-minute choices of gifts that should have been purchased in November, boxes of Christmas-tree ornaments that were put away in inaccessible places and must be brought to light;

Surprise over Christmas cards from distant relations and still more distant friends who haven't been heard of since 1937, the menu of Christmas dinner in the United States Army and Navy, strings of Christmas-tree lights that won't work for some obscure reason;

Frost-bitten ears and chapped lips incurred in the line of duty and pleasure, mistletoe duly noted and taken advantage of before some one's feelings get hurt, Christmas presents duly exclaimed over with an enthusiasm that thinly conceals disappointment because they are not something else;

Irving Berlin's mournful chant about a White Christmas, Dickens' Christmas Carol, still trying to decide what to do about New Year's resolutions, exchanging clothing that is either too large or too small but never just right, wondering what to do with another gadget just like the one you already have;

Trying to take all this in stride without letting any of it interfere with the performance of one's duties and chores which begin to grow more onerous than usual toward the latter half of the month, surviving Christmas day and the bright toys that have to be repaired thereon, getting back into shape for New Year's eve, remembering to yell "Merry Christmas" and "Happy New Year" at one and all when the time arrives,

Feeling sorry when it's all over, feeling that if it had lasted any longer it would have become more than human endurance could bear, resolving to face the new year bravely with a heart full of courage and brightness, reading year-end reviews of everything that happened in the past 12 months, and wondering whatever happened to December which was here and gone before a person could say, "Gift-wrap it."

...ig and Little Inch Pipelines To Help Solve Gas Problem

...se of the Big and Little Inch pipelines for the transadditional gas from the southwest into Ohio comes as a ...is state which is facing its most severe gas shortage ...t was declared today ... Weaver of Columbus, ... the Ohio Fuel Gas ...

...ent by Mr. Weaver re... the Ohio gas outlook was ...here today through C. E. ... manager of the local of... the gas company. The... en. follows:

"...ing the physical impos... increasing the regular ... sion facilities for bring... into the area in time to ... this winter's emergency, ... Lausche and the public ... commission of Ohio have ... helpful in working ... authorities in Washing... make the government... ...nes available for the ... few months.

"...seeing the coming gas ... engineers of the Ohio ... Co started a study in ... of the possibility of ... the Big and Little Inch ... movement of gas into ... during the winter. ...eeing insufficient time to ... gas compressors to in... ...ing the lines for handling ... was necessary to consider ... reliability of gas under high ... ...es that could be induced ... the lines from the West and ... ...es which were crossed in ... to that could receive the gas ... additional compression ... are informed that gas could ... put into the lines at some 650 ...unces pressure, and at this pres... the two lines would store ... a billion cubic feet of gas ... ...ween the west and Ohio ... estimated that about 50 ... cubic feet of gas per day ... be put into the lines. If ... were to draw steadily on ... lines it could be taken out at ... ...proximately that rate at this ... after satisfactory pressure ... been built up. If the lines ... be packed until the pres... at this end was approxi... ...s that at the other end, per... more than twice this amount ... could be taken from the ... for a day or two, the amount ... ...ng as the pressure dropped.

The additional gas will not be a net gain to the Ohio Fuel Gas Company because the entire amount available to the Appalachian area probably will be shared among the various companies dealing in natural gas. It would, however, prevent hardship to domestic users except in those instances where distribution mains are insufficient to maintain adequate service. Some curtailment still is most likely among industrial users, the length and frequency of which will depend upon the severity of the winter and the domestic users' success to avoid waste of gas. It will be impossible to raise the restrictions on customers converting from other fuels to gas heat this season.

"The Big and Little Inch lines cross Ohio Fuel's transmission lines at some four points where gas can be taken into our system. Fortunately these connections fit into our system nicely and work on them is starting at once. Yesterday installation crews and the necessary equipment for making the connections in Ohio were flown in from Texas.

"It was impossible to consider use of the Big and Little Inch lines to relieve conditions created by the strike of coal miners. The amount of gas available through these lines would amount to less than one per cent of the heat equivalent in coal mined per day under normal conditions. Also, those now using coal or manufactured gas made from coal could not convert their equipment to use natural gas in time to be of any help during the coal shortage."

3 Bucyrus Dealers Deliver Last Coal

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Dec 4—Only four Bucyrus coal dealers today had coal remaining in their yards, two of the four admitting that their supply was limited and of inferior quality. Another has only stoker coal on hand. One dealer said he had sufficient on hand to last 10 more days with careful distribution. Three other dealers were completely out of coal.

The miners' strike has resulted in a shut-down on operations of 15 New York Central railroad locomotives which are standing idle in the Bucyrus roundhouse and yard. Also standing idle in the yards are 20 cabooses which have been pushed onto a siding until trains can again be moved. Only two trains daily are operating on the local line. Company officials said today that the continued strike would cause the lay off next week of approximately 30 railroad workers and another two weeks would mean elimination of 75 workers.

GERMAN BRAINS PAY U.S. WELL, ARMY SAYS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4—Germany, by an official army estimate, is repaying the United States for occupation outlays with scientific brains.

In its first public account of the work of German scientists and technicians who have come voluntarily to this country since V-J day, the war department estimated that in basic research in rockets alone they had saved American taxpayers more than $100,000,000.

That approximates the cost of a year's occupation in Germany, Japan and Korea. It does not, however, include their contributions in electronics, jet propulsion and other scientific fields which were put at "many millions" additional.

Their far 270 top-flight scientific experts have been brought from Germany and the number will be increased to 1,000 as soon as transportation is arranged.

The department said many of the scientists now would be released from army supervision to work for private industry, research laboratories and educational institutions.

Reporters were permitted last month to interview the groups at Fort Bliss, Tex. and White Sands, N. M., where postwar experiments with giant V-2 rockets have been in progress, and at Wright Field, O., center of air forces research and development.

RAILWAY UNION TO SEEK PAY INCREASE

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Dec. 4—Higher wages to "meet the widening differentials between wages and living costs" are the aim of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, says President David E. Robertson.

General chairmen numbering 150, representing each railroad in which the brotherhood has members, assembled today for a conference with the wage question their principal item of business.

"We are not complaining about the abandoning of controls, but we want to go along with the rise and not be left completely behind," said Robertson.

Closely allied to the question of wage scales is the subject of changes in railroad working rules, many of which would affect the rates of pay. Rail brotherhoods have been demanding numerous changes in working rules for several years, but the firemen and enginemen suspended these demands last year when their wage dispute with the carriers went into government arbitration. Robertson said rules changes will would be discussed by the chairmen.

Another problem before the conference is the effect of substituting multiple-unit diesel engines for steam engines, lowering the employment possibilities for the brotherhood's 117,000 members. The diesel units pull longer trains but require smaller crews, said Robertson.

The confernece may require a week or ten days, and may include a discussion of future amalgamation with the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. No official action would be taken prior to he firemen's convention next July in San Francisco. The proposal has been under consideration since 1931.

ROTARY SPEAKER TALKS ON ESTATES

Trust Officer of Columbus Bank on Program.

"Be Prepared To Die" was the subject chosen by Charles H. Mylander, vice president and trust officer of the Huntington National Bank of Columbus when he spoke at the weekly Rotary luncheon meeting Tuesday at Hotel Harding.

His theme was the need for every man to make careful arrangements for disposition of his estate after his decease. He said any man in this day and age should die without leaving a will.

He used several illustrations of what has happened to estates for which adequate provisions were not made. He recommended consulting a lawyer, a trust officer of a bank and a life insurance underwriter to plan the distribution of property.

Howard P. Gaffney, program chairman for December, introduced the speaker. Guests were Emerson J. P. Callaher of Dayton, W. Calvin Leonard, district representative of the safety and hygiene division of the Ohio industrial commission, Frank G. Abbey of Lima and W. H. Conant of New York City.

Ann Hewetson was the student reporter from the Harding High school journalism classes.

Cong. Smith Talks To Reserve Officers

Problems of national defense and security were discussed by Congressman Frederick C. Smith Tuesday night at Hotel Harding in a monthly dinner meeting of the Marion Area Chapter of the Reserve Officers' association. About 25 were present.

Congressman Smith returned to the Red ray trials in Canada. He also reviewed legislation which will be considered by congress concerning reserve officers.

Capt. Virgil Dye, manager of Hotel Harding, made arrangements for the dinner meeting.

Greece Charges Balkan Neighbors Before UN

By The Associated Press

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Dec. 4—Vasili Dendramis, Greek ambassador to the United States, said today his country has filed formal charges of border violations against Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania and has asked that a UN commission make an "on-the-spot" investigation.

Dendramis said his delegation has submitted the complaint to secretary-general Trygve Lie. He said that the Greeks asked the United Nations security council to discuss the case and that a committee be sent to Greece to investigate conditions along the border.

Premier Constantin Tsaldaris of Greece is enroute from Athens to New York to present the complaint in person but has been delayed in Paris by weather.

The play is to begin each night at 8:15, and is under the direction of Mrs. Virginia Walker. It is a comedy in three acts and deals with the activities of the Early family. Music preceding the play and between acts will be given by the Harding High school orchestra.

LEWIS

corridor's chamber lasted about a half hour. Then Welly K. Hopkins, coal defense counsel, and his colleagues left and went into a private huddle in another room.

Assistant Attorney General John F. Sonnett remained in the judge's chambers for the time being.

Lewis continued to pace the floor in the adjoining ante room.

The defense lawyers declined to answer reporters' questions as to whether they had made their recommendation for a penalty for Lewis.

One of the attorneys, Harrison Combs, informed Lewis of the conference with the judge before joining the private conference of defense attorneys.

Lewis himself joined the conference of lawyers a minute later, behind closed doors.

At 11:22 the Lewis attorneys rejoined Judge Goldsborough in his chambers. Sonnett had remained with the jurist while the defense lawyers were conferring with their embattled client.

Lewis remained behind in a room which was equipped with a telephone.

No Limit To Penalty

There was no legal ceiling on the fine or jail term which could be imposed on the mine union leader for failing to call off the economy-paralyzing coal strike, now two weeks old.

His union itself, the AFL United Mine Workers, faced the possibility of a crushing financial penalty on the same charge of ignoring the court's order not to "terminate" a contract with the government covering wages and hours in the seized bituminous mines.

As Lewis headed back to the court room for the morning's fateful session, an official familiar with the tentative strategy told a reporter that Assistant Attorney General John F. Sonnett's staff, in eleventh hour conferences, had favored a recommendation that the court fine the union $200,000 a day as long as the strike lasts.

The government staff also was reported to favor a heavy fine or jail sentence for Lewis.

Punishment Up To Judge

It was entirely within Goldsborough's discretion as to what punishment should be levied. But he asked the government for its recommendations and also asked Lewis' lawyers to make suggestions.

Even before pronouncement of sentence, counsel for the union leader had mapped plans for a quick appeal from Goldsborough's decision that Lewis is guilty of "wilfully, wrongfully and deliberately" disobeying the court's stop strike order of Nov. 18.

In the event of such appeal, the government would move to take the case direct to the supreme court instead of waiting for a U. S. court of appeals trial, according to an official in a position to know.

Stay To Be Sought

A union official indicated a stay of execution of the sentence, pending appeal, would be asked in event Lewis was ordered to jail.

If granted, it would allow his freedom until the high court ruled.

Organized labor was rallying behind Lewis. The Philadelphia branch of the American Federation of Hosiery Workers, affiliated with the rival CIO, chipped in $1,000 for the defense. The locals president said the conviction, if upheld, "will set a precedent that will gravely endanger the status of the entire labor movement" and jeopardize "the constitutional rights of American labor."

As the legal fight inched ahead there still was no indication of a break in the strike. Industry wheels ground slower, the number out of work as a result of the walkout mounted to more than 165,000, and the government found it necessary to order:

Freight Embargo Ordered

A general embargo on railroad freight shipments, excluding only certain items vital to public health and welfare.

A limitation on the size and weight of parcel post packages—Christmas gifts as well as mail.

A further cut of 25 per cent in passenger service on coal-burning railroads, for a total of 50 per cent.

Thursday midnight is the effective hour on the freight and parcel post measures, while the passenger slash becomes effective Sunday night.

Along with these emergency moves, prospects glimmered for resumption of contract negotiations between Lewis and the mine operators—deadlocked since before the government seized the pits last May.

Chances for getting together faded yesterday when Edward R. Burke resigned as president of the Southern Coal Producers association. Burke had expressed willingness to bargain with Lewis, but his colleagues voted him down.

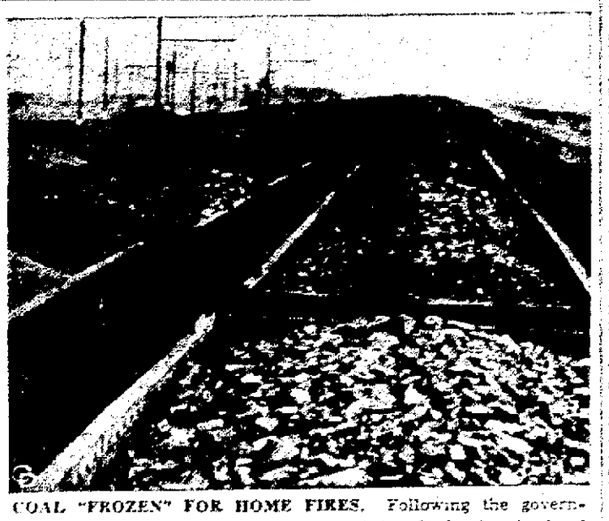
Still another indication that no strike settlement is in sight came in the ringing defiance of the statement Lewis made in court immediately after Goldsborough found him guilty.

Taking sharp issue with the court for ruling that the Norris-LaGuardia anti-injunction act does not apply in this case, Lewis expressed his determination to "firmly stand" on his "constitutional rights." He said that in line with AFL policy on the injunction issue he was prepared to accept "whatever consequences may follow."

"Recent events," he added, "have greatly and acutely enhanced our initial conviction."

This apparently referred to the union's belief that it had a right to void its contract with the government, as well as to the policy Lewis followed in ignoring the court's restraining order.

That order will expire Saturday unless extended.



COAL "FROZEN" FOR HOME FIRES. Following the government order forbidding the export of coal, hundreds of carloads of "frozen fuel" jam a railroad siding in Philadelphia. Europe Feels Pinch Of U. S. Coal Strike

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Dec. 4—Industrial crises threatened today in at least half a dozen European nations cut off from American coal supplies by the strike of John L. Lewis' miners.

France, Belgium, Italy, Switzerland and Denmark were suffering most from the immediate effects of the work stoppage.

Observers in Sweden, Norway and Germany, less dependent on American supplies, reported no evidence yet of industrial breakdown, but saw the prospect of increasing difficulties unless the coal dispute was settled quickly.

French Communists Fail To Win Power

By The Associated Press

PARIS, Dec. 5—The Communist party was defeated today in its bid for leadership of the French interim government, when Maurice Thorez, its candidate for premier, failed of election in the new national assembly.

Election tabulators said Thorez lacked 51 votes of the necessary majority. He would have required an absolute majority of 310 votes.

His defeat for the office followed the announced decision of the moderate MRP (Popular Republican Movement) and the Radical Socialists to abstain from voting for him.

Former Marion Man Back To Face Charge

David Newell, 21, a former resident of Marion, was arraigned in municipal court today on a charge of rape. He pleaded not guilty and preliminary hearing was set by Acting Judge Kenneth A. Robinson for Friday at 3 p. m. Bond was set at $2,500.

Newell was arrested on a complaint filed in June 1945 by the mother of a 16-year-old Marion girl. Sheriff's officers brought him here from Kankakee, Ill., Monday after police there had arrested him on investigation and notified authorities here.

11 Hurt as School Bus Is Sideswiped by Truck

By The Associated Press

WARREN, O., Dec. 4—Eleven persons were injured last night when a truck sideswiped a school bus and careened into an automobile on state route 534 near Newton Falls.

Most seriously injured was Richard Athey, 16, a member of the Austintown Fitch high school basketball team, who received a fractured leg. Three other players, five students, the basketball coach and a teacher received minor injuries.

State highway patrolmen put the truck driver, George Heckathorn, 61, of Newton Falls, in jail on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

AUTO OUTPUT HITS PEAK

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, Dec. 4—General Motors Corp. reported today that its November production of passenger automobiles reached a total of 127,167 units, for a new postwar peak. The previous high month for 1946 was October with an output of 126,450.

HEALTH SEALS SALE TOTAL UP TO $1 694

County's Opening Week Record Below Last Year.

Contributions amounting to $1,694.15 have been received in the first week of the annual Christmas Health Seal campaign, it was reported today by Mrs. W. E. Miley, executive secretary of the Marion County Anti-Tuberculosis League. Sixty-five hundred letters were placed in the mail early last week carrying the harbingers of health to thousands of homes in the city and county. Upon the returns from these letters lie the hope of the league to raise $5,500, Marion county's quota in the national health campaign.

Letters are being received daily, but this year's receipts to date are below those of last year, the records show. Newcomers or others who have not received seals this year, or persons wanting more seals may call Mrs. Miley or get them at the Marion County Bank, the sponsors announce. Assisting the league are members of the Business and Professional Women's club, who will be at Uhler's store Friday evening and all day Saturday.

Proceeds this year, as in former years, will be used to combat tuberculosis, which, records show, still kills more Americans than all other infectious and parasitic diseases combined. Every day wasted costs the people of America some 144 lives and more than two million dollars, records show. Now, the sponsors point out, more Christmas Seals than ever before must bear financial fruit for the final push toward freedom from the disease now within reach.

Gardiner Symonds of Houston, Texas, president of the Tennessee Gas and Transmission company, told the house surplus property investigating committee his men are already at work on the properties and the gas will be "turned on soon, possibly in a day or two." The committee questioned Symonds while awaiting a response to an invitation to Reconversion Director John R. Steelman to answer Harold L. Ickes who testified Steelman is an "obliging" friend of John L. Lewis.

Auntie Has Idea—Book About Normal People

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 4—Aunt [illegible] Applegate walked into the Manhattan bookstore. [illegible] the corner a bespectacled [illegible] just back from a six-[illegible]shing of Europe was auto-[illegible]ing his [illegible]pus—"My [illegible] You Take [illegible] another [illegible] a young [illegible]school girl [illegible]ibbing a [illegible]otes for [illegible] paper in [illegible]gy from [illegible]race Fud-[illegible] monu-[illegible] five vol-[illegible] series, [illegible]e Among the Ainus."

Hal Boyle

[illegible] Sarah moved shyly up to [illegible]ing saleslady at the coun-[illegible]o was sighing over poet [illegible] Eyewash's latest pamphlet, [illegible] After Flower After Seed."

The saleslady closed her eyes and dreamily murmured the title poem—her favorite:

"First is the need.
The subtle seed
That births the flower—
Love's dower.
And the rain
Is life's pain
Whose power
Wipes out the flower.
And what am I and you who read?
We are the rain, the flower, the seed.
We are the need."

Wants To Buy Book

"I want to buy a book," said Aunt Sarah.

"What kind of a book," replied the saleslady opening her eyes coldly to the crass world.

"It's for my nephew Jim and his wife Mary."

"How about this one?" said the saleslady, "Marriage: Snare or Delusion?" It's going like hotcakes. Or this new novel—"Six Weeks in Reno and After."

"I don't think so—Jim and Mary are happy," said Aunt Sarah.

Recommends 'Screaming Meemies'

"Well, I can recommend 'Screaming Meemies,' the story of a lifelong drunk who butchers his wife while in delirium tremens and repents. Or here's one selling like wildfire—'You Great Big Wonderful Mama.' It's an unusual story of a millionaire centenarian who transfers his oedipus complex to a chorus girl. He loses his money and dies unhappy."

"Oh, dear," sighed Aunt Sarah.

"Perhaps you'd like 'Nightmare in a Straitjacket.' It's about a man who falls in love with a blind girl while they're both in an insane asylum. Or here's one copy left of 'Grandma Does It Again.' Something about an old lady that steals her grandson's money, runs off to China with the janitor and dies mopping a hotel floor in Algiers. Not many laughs, but soundly written."

Aunt Sarah Demurs

"Not for me," said Aunt Sarah. "The next thing I know you'll be telling me Tom Swift's in jail."

"How about this then?—'Memories of Paradise Flats.' It's been banned in some states, and is it juicy! A guy gets to know everybody in a big apartment house and does he give the lowdown! Everyone in the place was a skunk. But he smelled them out."

"No thanks," said Aunt Sarah. "Why didn't he let them alone or turn them over to the police?"

Saleslady Exasperated

"Just what do you want?" snapped the exasperated saleslady.

"I just want a nice clean story about a married couple who had ordinary problems and worked them out together."

"We used to have books like that," said the saleslady doubtfully. "But it's been a long time."

"Well by gum!" said Aunt Sarah, angry clear down to the tip of her umbrella. "I'm going home this minute and write me a book myself. A book about common ordinary folks I've known all my life. If I can't turn out something better than this shelf trash, I'll give up apple pie!"

"What will you call your book?" said the saleslady.

"I'll call it 'The Bobbsey Twins in the Atom Age' if I can't think of anything else," said Aunt Sarah. "Laugh that off, young lady."

"I'm not laughing, Aunty," said the saleslady. "Bring your book around and I'll buy the first copy. I don't remember when I've read anything about normal people."

But the least forgivable thing that Elliott Roosevelt has done is his remark about the United Nations. As an American delegate to the United Nations, Mrs. Roosevelt has worked with unlimited energy, courage and selflessness. Old partisan enemies like Senator Warren R. Siphon Liquor from 26 State Townships in Local Option Elections.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 4 — Speeding their drive to make the state a drinking desert, Ohio drys siphoned intoxicating liquor from at least 26 more townships and villages in the November elections while embattled wets irrigated only two others.

Of 62 local option elections held Nov. 5, the anti-bibulous called 48; the matrini-minded 14—generally in sparsely populated rural sections. The balloting box score:

Drys—26 elections won, 20 elections lost, two split.

Wets—2 elections won, 12 elections lost.

Contributes Healthy Bite

This contributed a healthy bite to the nibbling dry forces have been doing to townships once more exposed to the grape and hop.

"We are pleased with the way local option elections went generally in November," said S. P. McNaught, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Ohio.

Anti-Saloon league figures, as of 1944, show that of the state's 1,360 townships, 543 or about 40 per cent, were wet; 495 or about 36 per cent were dry by the glass, and 322 or 24 per cent were bone dry. Both in the fall of 1945 and this year the dry forces made inroads, adding to the percentage of aridity.

The campaign this fall was particularly important, dry leaders declared, for the lengthy list of local option elections represented the first time the wets had made a concerted effort to challenge dry territory by election.

Wets Force Issue

Wets forced the issue by petition in certain townships and villages within Ashtabula, Belmont, Champaign, Coshocton, Guernsey, Medina, Miami, Noble, Portage, Ross, Trumbull, Tuscarawas and Warren counties. They won only in Stock township of Noble county and Massie township of Warren county.

In 41 elections, the voters considered the proposition of hard liquor, casting their ballots on five general propositions: sale of liquor, sale of wine for consumption off premises, sale of wine for consumption on or off, sale of liquor by the glass and establishment of state liquor stores.

Cleavage About Equal

The cleavage in all those cases was about the same. Sale of liquor was voted down in 23 places, approved in 17, and one was tied. Sale of wine off the premises was approved in 16, voted down in 25 places. Wine on or off the premises was turned down in 24 and approved in 16, with one place deadlocked. Sale by glass was turned down in 25 and approved in 15 places, with one deadlock, and state liquor stores got the nod in 17 places and were turned down in 23 with that group of Lower Salem voters still at impasse.

Forty-eight of the areas voted on permitting the sale of 3.2 beer. Twenty-eight of them voted it down, while 20 approved the weak brew.

Largest community voting was Coshocton which preferred to remain wet.

COMMUNISM AND FRANCE

Most Frenchmen Reported In Opposition To Red Government

(What do the election successes of the French Communist party mean to the internal and external policies of the postwar Republic of France? Robert C. Wilson of the Paris bureau of The Associated Press gives his views on these questions in a series of three stories, of which this is the record.)

* * *

By ROBERT C. WILSON
Associated Press Writer

PARIS, Dec. 4—The great majority of Frenchmen are opposed to a Communist government in France and for a simple reason: They believe the French Communist party follows orders from Moscow.

The owner of the small Paris hotel who came up to me right after the Nov. 10 elections and pleaded that I try to get him to America is convinced of it. He feels he will lose not only his propeprty but his personal liberty if the Communists head the new government.

Blum Has Doubts

A keen political leader like the Socialist leader Leon Blum, who knows the Communists as well as anyone in France, has serious doubts. He has publicly said he does not know what to think of this fundamental question but prefers to remain skeptical.

Maurice Thorez, secretary-general of the French Communists party and his party's candidate for the premiership, scornfully denies all allegations that the party is a tool of the Russians. recently he declared that French Communism was unlike Russian Communism in not seeking a classless society, and in not seeking to eliminate private property.

An impartial observer, without proof, cannot assert that the French Communist do follow instructions issued by Marshall Stalin's politboro. He can only conclude, after extensive observation, that the French Communists are consiscently pro-Russian in their writings and speeches and rarely, if ever, pro-American or pro-British.

Many Fear Communism

There are many serious, conservative Frenchmen with a deep-rooted fear of Communism who hope, nonetheless, that the Communist government has to be made some day. Let's not postpone it any longer."

The hope is that, unable to cope with the many problems facing France, the Communist prestige will suffer such damage after a few years that they will never again win a French election."

Anti-Communists who oppose this thinking hold that once in power it will be extremely difficult to oust the Communists, and that during their stint of power so many revolutions will be worked in domestic policy and so much damage done to France's international relations that France would never recover.

If the United States spent as much per capita on school lunches as England does the cost would be nearly one billion dollars a year.

The annual expenditure for research projects in the United States is estimated at half a billion dollars.

SMALLER FUTURE BATTLESHIPS SEEN

By The Associated Press

LONDON — Battleships of the future may be smaller than they are today and resemble surfaced submarines in appearance, according to Rear Adm. H. G. Thursfield, writing in "Brassey's Naval Annual for 1946" which was recently published here.

The atomic bomb and rocket weapons are likely to bring about such a tendency, he suggests, pointing out that heavy ships are not needed to launch terrific rocket bombardments. Formerly, he says, the design of a battleship was governed by the size of her principal armament; but rockets, having no recoil, can be launched from comparatively light vessels.

Though Adm. Thursfield anticipates changes, he says "the atomic bomb is, in fact, nothing but a "bigger and better bomb," and "there is no reason to accept the prophecy" that it is "likely to have any great influence on the design of battleships."

Nothing happened in World War II, he states, to justify the abandonment of sea forces, though it is not yet possible to predict exactly what form the successors to present battleships will take.

Spain Pays Tribute To American Dead

By The Associated Press

VERSAILLES, France — Honor for American dead was provided by the people and governments of Spain, Portugal and Gibraltar during the movement recently of 84 American bodies from isolated graves on the Iberian Peninsula to a temporary cemetery in France.

Ceremonies ranged from simple, unorganized tributes to gatherings of considerable size in which villagers, representatives of the Spanish Army General Staff and both Protestant and Catholic chaplains participated. In one instance Spanish troops formed a guard of honor.

Of the 84 bodies, 41 were recovered from a temporary cemetery maintained by the British at Gibraltar.

ERRATIC MOVES RULE STOCK TRANSACTIONS

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 4—Erratic moves ruled the stock market today as Wall Street watched anxiously for a hint of future business prospects from the Washington courtroom where miners' chief John L. Lewis appeared for a contempt sentence.

Steels led a hesitant rally that extended at one time to gains of as much as 2 points. Profit-taking at the higher levels put some issues under the best. Quotations were mixed near the fourth hour.

Commission houses said optimism stemmed from belief in some quarters that attempts to break the coal deadlock were being undertaken along with the court action and that expected new labor control legislation would be constructive. The rail freight embargo, hastening the strike's paralyzing effect on industry and business, chilled enthusiasm while tax selling remained as a restricting factor.

Participating in the rally were Bethlehem, U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Chrysler, Goodrich, American Smelting, New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio, Northern Pacific, Texas Co., Standard Oil (N.J.), Westinghouse, Douglas Aircraft, Montgomery Ward, Johns-Manville and Caterpillar Tractor. Holding aloof and on the offside at times were J. I. Case, Pennsylvania Railroad, Consolidated Edison, and U. S. Rubber.

158 DESCENDANTS

By The United Press

INDIANAPOLIS — When 102-year-old Annie Auston Mathews died at her Indianapolis home, she left 158 direct descendants. They included six children, 49 grandchildren, 80 great-grandchildren and 23 great-great-grandchildren.

More than 400 manufacturing companies with capitalization of more than $80,000,000 have been organized in Mexico since 1939.

INDUSTRY

Clark said employment at the Erie yards here already has been cut about 15 per cent due to the coal strike. Yard crews have been reduced about 10 per cent from what they were before the strike and freight traffic through the Marion yards has been cut about 20 per cent compared to the period before the strike. It was reported approximately 100 men have been laid off.

Mr. Clark estimated the Erie railroad, at its present rate of consumption, can operate about two weeks on its present coal supplies.

and the water and light plant at St. Marys reported a seven-day stock, and James L. Doyle, PUCO chief engineer, said he expected a "flood" of reports soon from other communities.

More Schools Close
More Ohio schools closed yesterday. In Conneaut seven public schools with an enrollment of 1,400 pupils, closed for the duration of the coal shortage, and St. Mary's parochial school expected to close Friday. In Wyandot county, the Nevada consolidated school shut down.

Utilities in the state's larger cities reported coal stocks ranging from the 20-day supply of the Dayton Power and Light to an 85-day stock of the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric.

At Bridgeport, O., Ford Sampson, labor commissioner of the Ohio Coal association, said the association's members had received federal coal mines administration authorization for deductions of $1-a-day fines against an estimated 8,000 eastern Ohio miners.

The fines, retroactive to the start of the work stoppage, will be levied against future pay checks of the workers he said, in accordance with a United Mine Workers' contract provision providing the $1 daily penalty for "unauthorized" work stoppages.

Truman Seen Asking New Labor Legislation

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4—President Truman's promise to send the strongest possible legislative message to the new G.O.P.-controlled congress brought predictions today that fundamental changes in the labor laws would be near the top of his proposals.

Mr. Truman used the description in telling a news conference yesterday about the state of the union message he plans to send the legislators in January. He said it would deal with labor and other topics so that he and the Republicans can cooperate and get something done.

Delaware County School Closed by Polio Reopens

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, O., Dec. 4 — Classes were resumed at Harlem school in Delaware county today after a two-week quarantine for infantile paralysis was lifted by Dr. Alexander Witkow, district health commissioner.

The schools were closed Nov. 20 after a Westerville boy died of polio and two other children were hospitalized. One of the latter two was released when no evidence of the disease was found and the other is still under observation.

Dr. Witkow emphasized that no new cases of polio have been reported to his department since the outbreak which occasioned the closing of Harlem school and the imposition of a quarantine on the community. Other cases in Delaware county, reported before Nov. 20, have now passed the contagious period, he said.

Economics Underlined By Envoy's Appointment

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 — O. Max Gardner's shift from second spot in the treasury to the American embassy in London underlined today the importance the United States attaches to international economic cooperation as the world tries for a post-war comeback.

The former 64-year-old North Carolina governor, whose appointment as ambassador was announced by President Truman yesterday, has dealt a big hand in economic and financial affairs both as treasury under secretary and as chairman of the board of advisers to the office of war mobilization and reconversion.

The post at the court of St. James became vacant when President Truman moved Averell Harriman to the cabinet, replacing Henry A. Wallace as head of the commerce department.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 4 — William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, says any industrialist who advocates "government control of labor through legislation is digging his own grave and the grave of the free enterprise system."

"Anti-labor legislation is nothing else than government control of labor," he said last night at the annual dinner of the Borough of Queens Chamber of Commerce.

In Fairness To Your Wife . . .
Men who look to the welfare of their families by carrying insurance making wills or creating trust funds should go a step further.
In the stress of grief the wife should not be compelled to select a funeral director and make the necessary funeral arrangements. Many men are meeting this problem by making advance arrangements. It is a sound practice and one that we advocate.

Davis, Blanchard Named On AP All America for Third Straight Yea

First Teammates To Achieve Three-Season Grand Slam Feat

By TED SMITS
Associated Press General Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—Glenn Davis and Felix Blanchard, Army's irresistible backs, became today the first pair of teammates ever to achieve the All-America football team for three consecutive years.

This gave Army two places on The 1946 Associated Press team, a distinction also won by Notre Dame.

Starting with Walter Camp's first All-America selection in 1889, and continuing through The AP teams, only 15 men previous to Davis and Blanchard won first team honors for three or more consecutive years. The last was Red Grange, Illinois halfback of 1923, 1924 and 1925. Never before have teammates accomplished this feat.

Notre Dame's finest were John Lujack, crafty quarterback, and George Connor, towering tackle.

Whereas in 1945 Army so completely overpowered all collegiate competition as to place five men on the first team, this year found the Cadets much closer pressed.

Reflects Swing

Geographical distribution of men on the first three teams reflects a swing of football's wartime center of gravity in the east towards the west and south.

The east placed two men on the first team—Blanchard and Davis; the south three, the midwest four, the southwest one, and the far west one. Taking into account the full squad of three teams, the east had six, the south nine, the southwest three, the midwest 10, and the far west five.

Standing in the front rank in the midwest with Notre Dame's Lujack and Connor are Elmer Madar, Michigan's powerful defensive end, and Alex Agase, guard on a strong Illinois team.

Southern Contributions

The south's contributions to the first team are Dick Huffman, 230-pound Tennessee tackle; Paul Duke, Georgia Tech center acclaimed by many as the greatest collegiate center of recent years; and Charles Trippi, the Georgia back who is a worthy running mate to Blanchard and Davis.

From the southwest came Weldon Humble, mighty Rice guard, and from the far west Burr Baldwin, UCLA end who was such a great factor in his team's victories.

All-America 2nd Team

Richard Hagen, U. of Wash.	E
Herman Wedemeyer, St. Mary's	B
Ben Raimondi, Indiana	B
Ernie Case, U.C.L.A.	B
Bobby Lane, Texas	B

Honorable Mention

Picked for The Associated Press All-America third team are Ray Poole, Mississippi, end; Bernie Gallagher, Pennsylvania, tackle; Knox Ramsey, William and Mary, guard; George Strohmeyer, Notre Dame, center; Herbert St. John, Georgia, guard; Frank Wydo, Cornell, tackle; Henry Foldberg, Army, end and Ray Evans, Kansas, Arnold Tucker, Army, Charlie Justice North Carolina and Harry Gilmer, Alabama, all backs.

Among those receiving honorable mention are backs Bob Brugge and Joe Whisler of Ohio State.

O.S.U. Junior-Varsity Breaks Even in 1946

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 4—The O.S.U. Junior-Varsity football team, in its first full season of operation, split even in eight clashes. Head coach Johnny Hallabrin's proteges, comprised entirely of freshmen and suphomores, tallied 320 points against their opponents' 128. All four losses were sustained with Western Conference foes.

Among the players on the Junior-Varsity was John Houser of Upper Sandusky.

TEACHERS' PAY RAISED

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Dec. 4—Effective Jan. 1, Youngstown teachers' annual salary will be raised by $295 to $350, in addition to a $200 cost of living adjustment now in effect. Pay will range from $1,800 to $3,750 after raises. The increase was made possible by the adoption of a two mill levy at the last election, said Supt. Paul C. Bunn.

TAG TEAM MATCH THURSDAY

Renee LaBell and Whitey Walberg will team up Thursday night at the Marion Armory to meet the team of Captain Mike Mihalakis and Rufus Jones. This will be Renee's first Marion match in many months and the popular Canadian was always a big card here for he was one of the fastest boys to show here. The tag team match is an outgrowth of last Thursday's battle royal when Whitey and the Captain met in the semi-final. Mike injured Whitey's knee so bad in the first fall that the Captain won two straight falls. After the bout Walberg wanted a return match. The tag team bout will be for the best two out of three falls with a two-hour time limit. The two 30-minute matches before the tag match will pit Walberg against the Captain and LaBell against Rufus Jones. Bill Glenn and Johnnie House, two Marion boys, will wrestle the prelim at 8:30. Its an action-packed program so call Markert & Lewis Cigar Store early for your best ringside seats.—Adv.

Minor Presidents Agree To Keep Retiring Bramham as Consultant.

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4 — Forty or more presidents of minor league clubs have adopted a resolution accepting the retirement of President William G. Bramham, but are agreed on keeping the czar of little baseball as virtual president emeritus.

The matter, an important one in the annual major-minor meeting here, reached a semi-climax late last night, and before the minors conclude their sessions on the floor this week the entire organization will act on the recommendation of the president's "steering committee."

"We want Judge Bramham continued as a consultant, and a very learned one, for the minor leagues," said Tom Richardson of the Eastern league, who presided at the presidents' banquet after Bramham retired from the closed session.

Unofficially, Bramham's $35,000 a year salary would be reduced to $10,000 in his consultant's role.

Meanwhile, the George Trautman-for-president drive gained momentum.

Major league moguls sat on the side lines as the minors held the spotlight, with their major sessions slated to get under way tomorrow.

A few trades enlightened the proceedings, however.

Brooklyn announced it had traded outfielder Augie Galan to Cincinnati for pitcher Ed Heusser, and the American league champs, the Boston Red Sox, gave Pinky Higgins his release to manage the Roanoke club of the Piedmont league.

The Red Sox signed pitcher Mace Brown and George Pipgras as scouts.

Reports here were that Billy Jurges, veteran shortstop, would be sent by the Chicago Cubs to manage their Triple-A farm, Los Angels, while advices from Chicago said Jurges had been taken off the active player roster and would remain there as coach.

Washington ditched two catchers, trading Jake Early to the St. Louis Browns for Frank Mancuso, and selling Mickey Guerra to the Philadelphia Athletics.

Of widespread interest was the huddle between Luke Sewell and President G. J. Jebeles of the Birmingham club of the Southern association, who needs a manager.

County League Cage Campaign Speeds Up With Second Week of Play

All Teams Active As Drive For Championship Picks Up Steam

By GEORGE ROEST

The County league goes into its second week Friday night with all teams active. Last week LaRue and Pleasant were inactive but they will put their perfect records on the block. LaRue to entertain Claridon, which also is undefeated, in one start, at Claridon, and Pleasant goes to New Bloomington.

Other games include Kirkpatrick at Prospect, Waldo at Green Camp, Meeker at Caledonia and Martel at Morral.

Claridon, which has set its sights on another county league championship, last week opened its season by dropping Meeker 42 to 28. Three of the starters on the Claridon quintet are regulars back from last season and the team has speed and height which make a good combination on any floor.

Ruth Boys Back

Claridon players back from last year are Jim and Gene Ruth and Dean Belknap. Others drawing starting assignments in last week's contest are Bob Stoner and Dale Frey.

When Coach John W. Pearson sends his team against Don Burton's LaRue cagers the game will be a natural in some respects. Both LaRue and Claridon have played only one game this season opposing that one from the same opponent. LaRue downed Meeker 43 to 19 while, in a more free-scoring contest, Claridon bettered them 42 to 28.

Free Lance System

LaRue will use a systematic free lance system on offense in an attempt to set Claridon back back on defense Coach Burton prefers the man-to-man system, since he believes it leads to a better game. The team will be short having no man on it over 5 feet 10 inches tall and Charles Leeth is the only leftover from last season's squad. Other players are graduates from last year's reserve squad which played a 16-game schedule without defeat.

The probable starting line up for LaRue will see Burke Ballenger and Harold Brocklesby at forwards, Loren Gillispi at center, and Ralph Weston and Leeth at the guard posts. All players are excellent ball handlers and capable defensive performers. Coach Burton expects to have a fast season with this squad and says that lack of height will be their chief drawback.

Pleasant Team Small

Pleasant which has played four contests out of the league has a squad with the tallest boy only 5 feet 10 and has three regulars back from last season along with a player who saw considerable action. Those back from last year are Tom Millison, Don Dutt, Charles Mayers, and Dick Green. The other starter is Ron Gorby.

New Bloomington, which entertains them in their first league tilt, has not been able to do much this season, having lost to Marseilles twice and to Martel in the opening of league play. Their starters are Dutton, Johnson, James, Snare, and Boblenz.

Caledonia just keeps rolling along and in four games has tallied 231 points while their opponents have scored only 125. Slated as their next victim is Meeker who will make the trip to Caledonia for the contest. The Caledonia starters are Freet, Comstock, Fleming, Clark, and Rogers. Although it is not impossible for Meeker to pull an upset it seems unlikely from past showings that they will.

Starters for Meeker are Holbrook, Williams, Yost, Shrack, and Brown.

First Place at Stake

A contest which will knock one of the teams out of first position for sure will be the Waldo-Green Camp engagement at Green Camp. Waldo, last week, pulled an upset over previously undefeated Morral while Green Camp won easily over Kirkpatrick. Waldo's seasonal record now stands at two wins against two losses and Green Camp has posted wins over Wharton, Radnor, Kirkpatrick and Nevada. Waldo has a squad with four lettermen on it and an ex-GI. Lettermen are Schultz, Sims, Salyer and Baker. The vet is Loyer and Ward, although not a letterman, was in their starting lineup last week. Coach Roettger of Green Camp has four seniors and a junior in the starting five, Hensel, Wolfinger, Jerew, Long and McLean.

The other county league contest will see Martel at Morral. Morral has an experienced team, which although it dropped the league opener to Waldo, can not be counted out of the flag race this early in the season. Martel had little trouble blasting New Bloomington 58 to 15 last week.

This game sees the two contestants evenly matched and is likely to prove one of the closest played Friday night.

Mike Jacobs, Absolute Ruler Of U. S. Boxing, Seriously Ill

MIKE JACOBS
Gravely Ill

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 4—Michael Strauss (Mike) Jacobs, the nation's foremost boxing promoter for the past decade, was gravely ill at St. Clare's hospital today after collapsing from a cerebral hemorrhage two blocks from Madison Square Garden.

Dr. Vincent Nardiello, Jacobs' personal physician and a member of the state athletic commission's medical staff, expressed belief that if the 66-year-old promoter showed improvement within 36 hours of his collapse late yesterday he'll make the grade."

Jacobs, famous as the proprietor of $1,000,000-a-year beak busting business, was reported in a semi-conscious condition during the night, but Dr. Nardiello said early today:

"He is resting as comfortably as possible now. His blood pressure has come down. His pulse is better and he can swallow again. These can be counted as encouraging signs. But he is in a grave condition, and it is now entirely a matter of waiting."

Just a month ago, the man who has controlled virtually every champion from heavyweight down to lightweight since he signed up the exclusive services of Joe Louis in the mid-thirties, suffered a thrombosis—a minor facial paralysis. That cleared up in 16 hours, and he returned to his spacious Twentieth Century Sporting club—which is another way of saying Mike Jacobs—in Madison Square Garden on Nov. 14.

However, Dr. Nardiello believes that might have been a "tip off" of some more serious trouble. This overtook him late yesterday as he entered the Capitol theater, only two short blocks away from the Garden, itself. He had done some shopping in a nearby men's haberdashery and was about to visit a chiropractor friend in the building when he collapsed. The friend called his offices; Dr. Nardiello was hastily summoned, and Mike was rushed to St. Clare's hospital in an ambulance.

Programs on the Air

By The Associated Press

NENW YORK, Dec. 4—Little America is coming back on the network air for the third time. No date has been set for the new series of broadcasts, but it will coincide with the arrival in the Antarctic region of Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd's latest expedition. However, it is expected to be around Christmas, or a little later.

On the two previous Byrd trips in the 30's, members of the exploration parties, including the admiral himself, did the broadcasting. This time the networks either are sending their own men or will use newspapermen accompanying the expedition, which this week got under way.

NBC sent Max Hill, while CBS will use Arthur Hannes from Knox, St. Louis. Lee Van Atta will talk for ABC and Roy Gibbons for MBS.

To send the voice back to this country, a 2,500-watt short wave transmitter aboard the communications ship Mt. Olympus will be used.

By wonder wear we mean years of service under the roughest, toughest use and abuse, because they are knitted of Cable-yarn yarns by the Rugby "Tricle-fit" process, then reinforced at every point of strain. You can't beat them for wear, warmth or glove-smooth fit.

Arthritis and Rheumatic Pains
Thousands of sufferers from the pains and aches of Arthritis, Rheumatism, Swollen Joints, Lumbago, Sciatica and Neuritis have been delighted to discover that the Doctor's formula called Remind starts circulating through the blood almost immediately after the first dose, usually helping nature remove poisonous wastes and excess acids that often cause pains and soreness, and at the same time promptly combating the pain and discomfort.
8-Day Trial Offer: To prove what Remind can do to help you feel improved and how fast it works, get Remind from your druggist and take exactly as directed. See the results for yourself. You be the judge. Unless surprised and delighted, simply return the empty package and your money back is guaranteed. Don't suffer another hour without trying Remind. If your druggist is out, ask him to get it from his wholesaler.

Bucyrus Railroad Engineer Retires

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Dec. 4—A veteran of 56 years and four months duty with the Ohio Central division of the New York Central railroad, William Shiffler, Bucyrus railroad engineer, terminated his duties with retirement this week.

Mr. Shiffler begun his railroad career in June 1890 as a water boy from which he advanced in sequence through the jobs as coach repairer and firemen until assuming the engineer's post in 1901.

He holds the record of only one day's absence for illness during the last 35 years.

The Schiffler home until recently was in Bucyrus but is now established in Toledo.

Baptists at Richwood To Launch Campaign

Preliminary plans are being made by First Baptist church at Richwood for launching the World Mission crusade of the denomination. Observance of Crusade Sunday will be next Sunday, and Thursday night the Richwood church will send delegates to the crusade rally to be held in Trinity Baptist church in Marion.

Friday at 8 p. m., the crusade workers of the Richwood church will meet at the parsonage to plan details of the service for Sunday and the solicitation that will follow during the next week, Rev. Donald S. Hobbs, pastor, announced.

The crusade goal of First Baptist church is $3,000. A victory meeting will be held by the church Dec. 18 when it is expected that the goal will be subscribed. Principal feature in the observance of Crusade Sunday will be a service or recognition and dedication for members who are serving as crusade leaders and workers.

Repeal of Obsolete Laws To Be Proposed

KENTON, Dec. 4 — Willard Campbell, director of the code revision bureau of the state of Ohio and former common pleas judge of Guernsey county told the members of the Hardin County Bar Association that the bureau has prepared a bill which will be presented at the next session of the legislature calling for the repeal of 457 sections of Ohio law which are obsolete, antiquated, or duplications.

Speaking before the bar association's quarterly dinner, he said that the bureau also recommended that approximately 2,000 other sections found to be partially obsolete, be corrected.

When Robert Louis Stevenson built a home in tropic Samoa, he included a fireplace costing more than $1,600.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

I DO not know why every nerve in my body began to tingle at the casual reminder of a past shared experience which "Mr. K," my father's trusted FBI associate, had just put to "Mr X," the other FBI man that Hugh Grantland had vouched for

But it seemed to me that suddenly the very air was electric, as 'Mr X" waited fully a second before answering

'Oh yes, yes ' he said at last 'That was an experience Melodramatic stuff By the way, my memory for names is shockingly bad I know your face as well as I do my own in the mirror but what letter was yours' Could it be 'N ' That seems to associate itself with you '

A Close Guess

"You're 'getting warm,' as the children say," 'Mr K" replied, and there was something in his voice which told me that he was "on his toes' in this exchange of reminiscences "As a matter of fact it is 'M' Do you remember it now?"

"Oh yes, of course, 'M,'" 'Mr X" replied, and my imagination toyed once more with the notion that there was distinct relief in his voice "So stupid of me not to remember But, I am afraid, 'M,' that I haven't time for any reminiscences I am in a tearing hurry So, suppose I tell you my errand, and you help me to get it accomplished Then I can be on my way, and will not need to trouble you good people any further"

A Jangled Chord

There was a jangled chord in my memory "Mr X's" face and voice were familiar to me, well remembered, but there was a coolly arrogant note in his tones now that had been wholly absent upon the occasion of my meetings with him.

It was a disagreeable impression but I had no opportunity to cherish it or to shake it off, for "Mr K" was speaking again, and I reminded myself sharply, that my business was to set my trained memory at work to remember every word of the colloquies I was overhearing.

"What good would it do you to tell me your errand?" "Mr K" drawled

"Why, why," "Mr X" stammered 'To whom, then?"

Hears Advancing Footsteps

I heard my father's footsteps advancing toward him

"You will state your errand to me" he said

"Who the—" "Mr X" began, and I guessed that he stopped his query just before the words "devil ate you?"

Then he spoke with deference

"Of course, sir," he said

'Sit down" my father said "you and Charlie Kent both Charlie, you look done out"

"I m—all—right" Charlie said, and his voice was little more than a whisper

"I'd rather stand," "Mr X" said, and again I fancied his voice sounded strained "I'm in a hurry"

Not in a Hurry

'But I'm not," my father said "I wish plenty of time to consider what you have to tell me I never, never hurry my decisions So you will have plenty of time to sit and rest at your leisure, Jim, chairs for these two men, please"

'Mr X" opened his mouth to speak, but evidently thought better of it, and sat down quietly in the chair Jim brought him

"You, too, Charlie,' my father said in kindly fashion, and I heard a slumping sound as if Charlie Kent had fairly fallen into his chair

"Now," my father said. 'What is it you want'"

'I want to take with me for a few hours those two men you have hidden here." "Mr X" said emphatically, "the white man and the Chinese. I've got something to show them, something on which I've got to have them check I'll bring them back to you safely."
